H. H. HILE, LATE LANDLORD
OF HOTEL HILTON, BELOIT,
TO RETURN TO EVANSVILLE

Will Resume Management of Central House, Which Has Been in Charge of Fred Allen.
(Special to the Gazette.)

Evansville, April 11.—H. H. Hile, who sold the Hotel Hilton in Beloit last Saturday, will return to this city. Fred Allen and wife, who have been in charge of the Central House since Mr. Hile went to Beloit, are moving into the Mrs. Matie Miles house on East Main street, and Mr. Allen will manage the hotel recently purchased of Ezra Gildred. Mrs. John Sperry has returned home from a visit with her daughter, Mrs. Olive Hubbard, in Porter. Ten delegates from the Epworth league of the Methodist church attended a district rally at Janesville Saturday and Sunday and all report a profitable and enjoyable meeting, and greatly appreciate the kindness shown them by the Janesville young people.

V. A. Albertie, postoffice inspector of Oklahoma, arrived in our city Monday to attend the funeral of his uncle, Charles M. Tuttle, which he supposed would be held Monday afternoon, and was surprised to learn that the funeral was held Sunday. He will remain in the city a few days to visit his mother and other relatives. Verne's many old associates are glad of the opportunity to again greet their former friend and schoolmate.

Albert Smith returned home Sunday from Nebraska and Oklahoma, where he had been visiting and looking after real estate for a few weeks. Mr. and Mrs. N. Almen, formerly of this city, now residing near Kilbourn, are the proud parents of a little son. The mother was formerly Miss Lulu Dudley, granddaughter of the late John Dudley.

Turkistan Engagements.

TABOGA VISITED BY AN AMERICAN

MISS HUMPHREY VISITS THIS FAMOUS HISTORICAL SPOT.

SCENES ON THE ISLAND

Land of Romance And History of The Spanish Main Days of The Past Recalled.

(By Miss Mary Humphrey.)

Panama Bay is thickly dotted with small islands of volcanic origin, none of them being less than seven or eight hundred feet high. One of the largest of these is called Taboga. It is about three miles long and one mile wide if measured on the level, but its volcanic origin caused the rocks to be thrown up in peaks to a height of 1,200 to 1,400 feet over its entire surface. All of these islands in the bay originally belonged to Colombia but when the Isthmus of Panama declared itself free from Colombian rule these islands were included in the Panamanian territory. When the French were working on the isthmus they gained permission of the Colombian government to build a sanitarium on the island of Taboga. The island being but twelve miles from the city of Panama it was easily reached by boat and there were many features to make the island attractive as a health resort. The soil is especially adapted to the raising of pineapples and that industry together with the fish catching constitutes the chief industries of the island. Taboga pineapples are the finest in the world and bring the highest price in the New Orleans market. To live on the island for a few weeks every few months and feast on the fine pineapples was quite attractive enough for the French; but there are still others which are perhaps less in magnitude but important enough to be considered. The water, gushing from springs in the mountain sides is exceedingly pure and healthful and the air is much drier than on the mainland and practically free of malaria, so it gives one a chance to free the system of the malarial germs, a very necessary factor in this country.

Recognizing all these favorable points, the French built a sanitarium which would accommodate from eighty to one hundred guests. It is located on the north side of the island, facing Panama, and about twenty feet above the shore line. At the back of the building the mountains rise precipitously a thousand feet or more. When our government came into possession of the Canal Zone, it also fell heir to this sanitarium. It has been fitted up with shower and tub baths, the rooms comfortably furnished, a doctor is in charge of it with three or four nurses to assist him in caring for convalescent patients from the hospital at Ancon and Colon. The nurses and doctors from these two hospitals also are sent there to rest when tired and worn out with their work. It is indeed a haven of rest to them.

The sea-bathing is fine, mountain climbing is just difficult enough to give one good exercise and a ravenous appetite; the nights are always cool, so sleep is sure to follow a good climb and a revel in the sea.

The nurses are sent over in couples so they can have company during their stay. They all look forward to their turn with great anticipation. My turn came on the twenty-second of March—a week of freedom from complaints and groans of querulous patients. The getting to the steamer at Panama on the morning of our trip to the island proved to be most laughable. The tide was out when it was time for the steamer to leave for Taboga so for twenty or thirty feet from the shore there was a stretch of black mud. On account of the height to which the tide rises on the Pacific side (twenty-two feet) it is impossible to have wharves, except for the large Ocean liners. Small crafts have to anchor in the bay and have all passengers and freight brought to them in row boats. But this morning even row boats were stranded in the mud at low tide. When the captain signalled in readiness to embark we wondered how it was possible for us to get to those row boats twenty feet away through that mud. While standing there wondering we were suddenly picked up by one of the boatmen and carried to the row boats. The suddenness and manner of our escape was most laughable. The indignified position of sitting in his arms with my arms around his neck was most amusing for my gravity. In poor Spanish I adjured him not to drop me in the mud—a needless waste of words for he carried me as easily as he would a child. One of the ladies was so heavy her knight-errant demanded double pay, which she gave without a demur, for he certainly earned twice the price he charged—ten cents silver, which is equal to five cents in our money.

The middle of the day is so hot we do not attempt being out in the sun from eleven a. m. to two p. m. Our mornings are spent in exploring the island; the afternoon in sea-bathing, and the evening in rowing or sailing. There is an island connected with Taboga by a sandbar which, during low tide, is bare. This island proved to be an interesting place. Close to the shore we discovered stone steps which led to a stone paved path up the mountain side. Where the ascent was too precipitous for easy climbing stone steps were either laid or cut in the rock. At intervals in the ascent we came upon stone foundations for buildings. Half way up the mountain side was a beautiful staircase cut into the rock with stone carvings on each side and at the end or top a sort of recess which might have been intended for a point of observation. Certainly the view was not only beautiful but extensive, commanding a wide sweep of the ocean and of the surrounding islands. On top of the mountains were extensive ruins showing there had been structures of considerable size built there. Inquiry later gave us the information that it was fortified by the Spaniards against the pirates who infested this part of the country in the fifteenth century, but I was unable to learn who destroyed the fortifications, but the razing was undoubtedly the work of Morgan and his band of desperadoes.

Taboga has a population of about seven thousand, the greater part of which is centered in two villages which are but a few minutes' walk from the sanitarium. The inhabitants are all Spanish speaking people of mixed white and black blood. They lead an indolent, free and easy life, fishing and the raising of pineapples being their chief occupation. The mountains grow nearly all the food they need so it costs them practically nothing for food and their clothing is of the simplest kind, so if they can have enough money to supply the bare necessities of life it is all they want. The possibilities of the island are great for money-making if the inhabitants were only enterprising enough to take advantage of it. The soil is exceedingly productive and by utilizing the water supply on the island for irrigation during the dry season two crops could be raised every year on the fruit trees and vegetables could be raised all the year round to supply the Panama market. The fruit grown here includes, besides the pineapples, bananas, limes, oranges, alligator pears, paw-paws, star apples, mangoes, mameys, coconuts, and coffee. Ginger, yams and yucca are to be had here year round for the digging. Corn is not cultivated further than planting the kernel and all the garden truck grows like magic. With a sea full of fish, chickens and cows to furnish eggs and milk, one could live here like a king. The physician in charge of the sanitarium has purchased several hundred acres on the island and is going to experiment with it in the farming line.

The way in which pineapples are cultivated may be interesting to those who have never seen them growing. Pineapples belong to the cactus family, the fruit growing out of the center of the plant on a thick stalk; something like a cauliflower, and not on trees as many people think. Around the tops and the base of the pineapple are sets similar to onion sets. At the proper time these sets are cut away and used in setting out a fresh field. As soon as a field has yielded its ripe fruit, the useless plants are burned as they stand in the ground, thus furnishing a fertilizer for the next crop. No further cultivation of the soil is necessary. With a machete the natives place the new sets in the ground and dame nature does the rest. By planting fields at different times of the year the island is never without ripe fruit, as a cactus does not need much moisture to make it grow. All of the fields are on the mountain side at quite an elevation and every morning at daybreak the men visit their patch and pick all the ripe ones, carrying them back to the shore in deep baskets which they make themselves for the purpose. They are made of bamboo and are supplied with bamboo straps which fasten over their shoulders. A basket filled with pineapples must weigh several hundred pounds and how these men could carry that load on their backs and make the perilous (as it proved to us) descent down the mountain side is just our understanding. For we could not go down unexpectedly, all too frequently in our descent over the very path they use. At the shore the pineapples are loaded into boats and taken to the market at Panama.

My companion and I discovered that even Taboga pineapples can be improved by physical conditions. We had climbed to the top of the highest peak which is 1,400 feet above sea level, and then had tramped over the summit of two other peaks when we espied a pineapple field a few hundred feet down the mountain side. We were perishing with thirst so we made a grand rush for that field. At first we were unable to find a ripe one as all of those had been picked earlier in the morning, but by persistent search we at last found one that had been overlooked. We grabbed the prize and in the shade of a friendly mango tree we split it open with a toy garden hoe which the boy in our party had with him to assist him in climbing. It proved to be a delicious one, so juicy it almost strangled us in trying to swallow the excessive quantity each mouthful contained. Perhaps your imagination will help you to see the juice running out of the corners of our mouths and decorating our noses and ears as we dived into our sections of that pineapple. It is needless to add that we needed a face cloth and wash basin when it was devoured, all of which luxuries were not to be had on a mountain top; consequently we did not make a very charming appearance as we ascended the steps of the sanitarium an hour or so later. But now we know how, when and where to eat pineapples under the best conditions for testing their flavor and worth as a fruit. The stringy, pithy, sour things called pineapples in the northern markets are a parody on these delicious products. No one ever thinks of spoiling their flavor by putting sugar on them and like the boy's apple that ain't no good to them. The fruit from this center is soft, tender and juicy. One can eat a whole one and not have a sore mouth and tongue as always results after eating a few slices of other kinds of pineapples. Come to Taboga and try them yourself if you doubt my word.

WEST MINSTRELS IN A FINE PERFORMANCE

Delighted a Fair-Sized Audience at the Myers Theatre Last Evening—
Some of the Features.

Those who attended the William H. West Minstrels' performance at the Myers theatre last evening enjoyed a clean cut, meritorious entertainment given by real artists. Taken all in all the West aggregation is a shade better than Haverly's and quite as good, perhaps, as H. Henry's company, both of which have appeared here during the past few weeks. It is evident, however, that the whole minstrel fraternity ought to be met in convention each year and parcel out by lot the new comedy songs and end men's jokes, because even such good ones as "Nobody" and "What You Gonna Do When the Rent Comes Round?" fall upon the listener after two or three repetitions in a single season. This is the only thing in the way of criticism that can be passed on last night's excellent offering. The old features were all new and snappy—lasting just long enough to keep the interest sustained. Alvin & Kenney did some marvelous acts on the rings. McDevitt and Kelly delighted all onlookers with eccentric dancing in a whirlwind "tempo" which has not been surpassed on the local stage. Henry Hoff performed astonishing feats on the unsupported ladder; George Van was more than good in a ten-minute song and monologue act; Major Fred Smith did amazing things with the Japanese "Devil Stick"; and Tippi and Kliment with a wheelbarrow zipline, a violin, a cornet, and an organ and cello combination presented a musical novelty sketch which would be difficult to duplicate. There were excellent vocalists in the circle during the first act. Spencer Kelly, tenor, and J. T. Barbee, basso, gave some very creditable vocal numbers. George L. Wade is an excellent end man and worked hard to make the audience smile at an inane and ill-chosen song entitled "Tickle Me." The performance closed with a big song and dance act by all the company entitled "Moonlight on the Spuance," created, according to the program, by Manager Reebay. The latter seems to be afraid that he will be lost sight of and his name inserted as the conceiver of peevish waltz clog, etc., at every possible juncture.

HOME FROM JOURNEY TO OLD BATTLEFIELD

Dr. James Mills Tells About the Field of Shiloh Where Wisconsin Monument Was Dedicated.

Dr. James Mills has returned from Pittsburg Landing, Tenn., where he witnessed the impressive dedication of the Wisconsin monument on the battlefield of Shiloh. A brother, Peter or Mills, of the 12th Wisconsin died at Pittsburg over forty years ago and was buried in this national cemetery. The 4,000 acres owned by the government include a large portion of the battlefield and there are over 3,800 Union and Confederate soldiers buried there, of which all but 1,200 are enrolled in the ranks of the unknown dead. Besides the headstones, one hundred large monuments have been erected there, one by the state of Iowa at an outlay of $35,000. The grounds are beautifully kept, as shown by the pictures, the Janesville man has brought home with him, and there are many historical places such as the great oak tree under which General Grant stood all one night while the surgeons were operating in the quaint old house just a few rods away.

He was taken ill with heart trouble Sunday night at one o'clock and on Monday pneumonia developed. The deceased was seventy-seven years old and a veteran of the civil war. The funeral will be held Friday afternoon at one o'clock from the Christian church here, the services being conducted by the pastors. Interment will be in the Center cemetery. He had done me for a suit of clothes and $2.50 in cash a year before. When he saw that I recognized him he said: "I guess I had better be going." "Don't hurry," I replied. "Your time is valuable, so is mine. Since you are here, I will give you 50 cents to be honest for three minutes." He hesitated, but finally agreed. After some questions he paused and said: "By love, you are a hard one. Why, you have a regular Medusa head."

The interview over, I handed him his 50 cents. Taking me very confidently by the hand he said: "Mr. Powers, I wish you to know that you have this information very cheap. I seldom talk with any man as long as I have with you that I do not get at least $2."—Rev. L. M. Powers in Boston Herald.

Plan For Drainage of Village Submitted by St. Paul Railroad Engineer.

Milton, April 10.—At the meeting of the Citizens' Association held Thursday evening there was a good attendance. The blue print on surface drainage prepared by the engineer of the Milwaukee road was on exhibition and there was a general discussion of the plan proposed by him, but as the committee was not ready to report no decisive action was taken in the matter, but much favorable sentiment was developed by the discussion. The estimated cost of the proposed improvement is from $2,000 to $3,000.

Village Committees.
At the meeting of the village council Thursday evening the following committees were appointed for the ensuing year:

Laws and Ordinances—A. E. Whitford, E. Shaw, W. Crandall.
Streets and Sidewalks—J. E. Davidson, B. H. Wells, W. H. Gray.
Finance—B. H. Wells, A. T. Alexander, E. Shaw.

Parks, Public Grounds and Street Lights—A. T. Alexander, J. E. Davidson.

Licenses—W. Crandall, W. H. Gray.

Oratorical Contest.
The final oratorical contest was held in the chapel Thursday evening. Six contestants participated and the honors were carried off by W. T. Crandall, Miss May Swinney and U. P. Davis, in the order named. If any criticism were made, it would seem to be on the apparent inability of all the contestants alike to assist their delivery by appropriate gestures. The orchestra was under the direction of Miss Ellen Crandall. Judges: Pres. Albert Salisbury, Whitewater; Rev. Leonard A. Parr, Edgerton; Prof. Calvin W. Pearson, Beloit.

Art Exhibition.

In Milton College Chapel on Thursday evening, April 12th, under the auspices of the Ithaca League there will be given an exhibition of the "Copy Prints," reproductions of the Green great mural paintings by E. A. Abbey, in the Boston Public Library, illustrating the legend of the Holy Grail. President Dalton will tell the story of the Legend and Miss Eabcock will read selections from Tennyson's "Holy Grail," Wagner's "Parsifal" and Malory's "Morte d'Arthur."

William M. Home, who died the night of April 4, was a resident here from his birth until in early manhood he located in Milwaukee. After his school life he entered the employ of James McDwan, who conducted a general store in the village, and remained there until he embarked in business for himself in Milwaukee. The retail grocery which he established at the corner of Mason and Jefferson streets proved a profitable venture and he amassed a comfortable fortune. A trip to California two years ago failed to restore his failing health, but until within a few months he has been able to give the business attention. Mr. Home had the respect and esteem of a large circle of friends and acquaintances in Milwaukee, not only in Milwaukee, where he spent so many years of his life, but also here at his boyhood home. He leaves two brothers, Peter of Bessemer, Mich., and John M. of Milwaukee, and two sisters, Elizabeth and Mary, who reside in the village, all of whom are left of a family whose parents were among the earliest settlers of Milton. The funeral services were held Sunday afternoon from his late residence, Rev. A. L. McClelland officiating, and interment made in the local cemetery.

Brought Remains.

F. M. Palmer came here Thursday from Williamsburg, Va., with the remains of his mother for burial in the village cemetery. He has his property in Virginia and will make Janesville his home.

Mining Notes.

What the Milton zinc corporations are doing in the lead region: "The buildings at the Delta are completed; all of the machinery is on the ground, and the work of installing is in progress. It will be but a short time before the miners will again commence the sinking of the shaft, which was seventy-five feet when the water stopped them." "Work of sinking a shaft has been commenced on the Little Dick near Cuba. The shaft is now down about ten feet. The ground is hard but the superintendent anticipates no trouble in reaching the ore level. The drillings from the Little Dick were fine."

"Buys East Side Property."

"John M. Home of Home Brothers, has purchased through the agency of Joseph Schubert, the residence property near the northwest corner of Jackson street and Juneau avenue from Mrs. M. Emma Harrison and Mrs. A. A. Kiehle. The property has a frontage of 100 feet and extends back 120 feet. It is occupied at present by an old style double brick residence. The price paid by Mr. Home was $20,000. It is stated that the purchase was purely an investment."

The final count of the ballots cast in the Gazette diamond contest will be held in the assembly room of the city hall, immediately after the polls are closed on Monday night next. The judges of election will be requested to gather at the Gazette office at seven o'clock, an hour before the polls are closed. There the ballots and the records will be given into their possession and the trophies will be turned over to them in trust for the people of the county to be awarded as the regulations governing the balloting require. The awards will be made on Tuesday evening in the banquet hall of the Hotel Myers, when the judges of election will gather with the candidates and their friends to celebrate the close of the struggle. The Gazette of Tuesday evening will take on some of the airs of a souvenir edition giving a review of the contest with portraits of the candidates, who have been claiming so large a share of public attention during the last four weeks. It is probable that the flags will be suitably decorated by the organizations to which they are presented on some future occasion, but they will be given into the possession of the winners on Tuesday evening. The brass connecting tube will bear the inscription: "Gift of (name of winner) to whom this flag was

A committee of representative citizens will be named to canvass the vote at the close of the balloting and make the awards. The polls will close at 8 o'clock p. m., Monday, April 16, 1906.

Forty Years Ago
Janesville Daily Gazette, Wednesday, April 11, 1866.—Save the City a Bill of Expense.—Will the City Fathers examine the sidewalks on Milwaukee street bridge, and see in how dangerous a condition they are? A few nails and a little time may save the city thousands of dollars in damages. Shall the nails and time be not forthcoming?

The River.—There is little change in the stage of water in the river today. If anything, it is a trifle lower.

Fire Alarm.—About half past one o'clock today the fire bells rang, calling out the streets full of people, many no doubt expecting to see the race, had given away. The alarm, however, originated at the Hyatt House, and was caused by the burning of a pole which had been left across the mouth of a chimney by some one unknown. No damage was done.

A Handsome Book Case.—At the furniture manufactory of Mr. Ashcraft, on the race, we saw one of the finest things in the way of a book case that we ever recollect to have noticed anywhere. Its peculiar beauty consisted chiefly in the grain of the black walnut of which it was made, it having the gnarled appearance of roots instead of the straight grain of the body wood. Mr. A. had only lumber enough to make this one article of furniture.

Immediately after the veto of the Freedmen's Bureau bill, Washington was crowded with applicants for office, who came denouncing Congress, and vehemently endorsing the President. Many of these gentlemen were appointed, but as yet not one of these has been confirmed. It may be well for office holders throughout the land, and those who hope to be such, to know that the direct road to such positions leads through the senate, as well as the White House. After the action of the Senate upon the last veto, it is simply absurd for those who hastily denounce Congress to expect confirmation at its hands.

Daily Edition—By Mail:

primary law on general principles is a snare and delusion.

Wisconsin has just passed through her first experience with this monstrosity and the law is denounced from one end of the state to the other. It is a good thing for newspapers, because every office-seeker is obliged to advertise, but it is ruinous to parties and party organization.

More than this it bars from office all men who are not office seekers and this means incompetent service. If the law is not unconstitutional, it is certainly un-American, for it is a direct stab at party organization. It is socialistic in tendency and aims to destroy the foundations of the republic. The law appeals to prejudice and ignorance. An effort is made to make the voter believe that his rights have been ignored and that the time has come for him to assert himself as a free man and throw off the party yoke. The law contemplates that every man should be an independent voter, and in exercising the right of suffrage that only the best men should be considered. Theoretically this may seem all right, but the principle is wrong. There are plenty of good men in all parties, but the principles upon which the party is founded is of more vital importance than the individual. The best man on a ticket may be a prohibitionist, but a vote for him is wasted. Loyalty to party is what makes the republic strong. The primary law ignores this fact and is therefore a dangerous experiment.

THOSE WANT ADS.

Solon believed that "if all men were to bring their miseries together in one place, most would be glad to take each his own home again rather than take a portion out of the common stock."

It would be a strange sight—a Misery Fair! And while the old philosopher was right, and we would be glad to each reclaim his own exhibit at the end, such a fair would bring us a thousand years nearer to the age of content and the day of steady nerves!

And while such a fair is not quite feasible we have nowadays something nearly as interesting—and nearly as useful—in the daily "coming together in one place" of the people who have wants and wishes and guests. The want ad. pages of a newspaper constitute the "coming-together" places for people who do find it profitable to "take a portion out of the common stock" in exchange for something donated thereto.

These want ad. pages are the nearest approach we have to a congress of content-lusters—a conference of people who have too much of this and too little of that—a market-place where give and take is the slogan, and where things are equalized and balanced and adjusted in the "clearing-house" for small things.

The person who misses the fullest service this clearing house can render is missing one of the most interesting phases of modern life—missing many a small profit, many a satisfying trade, many a tryst with opportunity.

LABOR LEADERSHIP.

Statistics from official British sources indicate that the trades unions include in their membership but fourteen per cent. of the total of British workmen. Nevertheless, unionism has a vast influence on English industrial and financial interests, both at home and abroad. It is evident that the forces of unionism depend there, as elsewhere, primarily, not on the majority of numbers, but rather on effective organization and sanity of leadership on the part of the minority.

Dangerous as this condition may seem, it is, after all, one of the saving features in the industrial struggles of Great Britain. This is the age of government by experts, and the expert leader in labor movements is trusted because he is expert, rather than an amateur or an adventurer. He, rather than his adherents, sees more clearly than the many can, that he affects his cause adversely when he leads his following in lines which make against the conditions of permanent prosperity. He has to consider not only the local interests of his particular community, but also the effect of unionistic action upon international competition. There is not a single strike of any proportion which does not in some measure shift markets from the hands of one competitor to another. The map of commerce is constantly changing its boundary lines, through events arising from the conduct of organized labor. In the great majority of cases the local interest is the chief one considered; yet the remoter consequences work out themselves unobtrusively, but none the less inevitably. More and more British unionism has come to recognize its responsibility to the world market; and to this is due its capacity to endure, in spite of its mistakes, as a permanent factor of national welfare.

American unionism has constantly illustrated the same truth, that the value of any organization to its members, as well as to society, depends directly on the fidelity of its leaders to something greater than themselves. The present anthracite coal strike has a moderation of tone about it which shows that the leaders are fully aware of the changed attitude of the public toward them. In the anthracite regions few impartial observers believe that the majority of miners look upon the strike as anything but temporary. Their leaders are not going to throw away the gains of the past, nor forfeit the good will of the public for the future.

A resumption of modus operandi between miners and operators at no distant date seems assured, strike or no strike, largely because the leadership on both sides is wiser and the organization better today than it was three years ago. Moreover, the element of terrorism, which had an important part in winning the strike of 1903, is wanting; while the police powers in Pennsylvania are in better shape to protect person and property. In the meanwhile, why should not the consumers organize by cities and districts so as to see that the distributors do not fleece him, and that in any future settlement his interests get better consideration than in the commission of 1903?

Racine Journal: With all due deference to our esteemed city authorities, our public streets are not ready for automobiles and express speeded traction cars.

Vesuvius' Advertising Campaign.
Evening Wisconsin: Italians may find some consolation in the thought that Vesuvius' disastrous activity is renewing the volcano's value as an attraction for tourists.

Another "Dem." Hope Blasted.
St. Louis Globe-Democrat: The coal strike is in such a mixed condition that the Democratic leaders fear it will not be enough of a calamity to give them a campaign lift.

Pet Newspaper Aversions.
Oconto Reporter: It is hard to say which will generate the worst case of rabies to say La Follette to The Gillett Times or "spelling reform" to The Milwaukee Free Press.

The Campaign Corncob.
Chicago Record-Herald: Just before the election Sherburn M. Becker, Milwaukee's boy mayor, distributed 5,000 corncob pipes and as many packages of tobacco. Apparently the campaign cigar is done for.

Signs of a Good Scrap.
New York Tribune: Art has its charms for the illiterate. A copy of "The Winged Victory" was placed last summer in the library of the University of Rochester. A workman assisting in the operation surveyed the headless and armless statue with interest. "An' what may ye call that fellow?" he asked. "That's the statue of 'Victory,'" said the librarian. "Victory, is it?" said the man.

Secret of Edison's Battery.
Exchange: The news that representatives of Thomas E. Edison had recently purchased a mine of cobalt ore on the Montreal river, near Halleyburg, Canada, and were offering $70 a ton on a ten per cent quality of this ore delivered in New York, has tended to confirm the report that cobalt is the key to Edison's new electric storage battery. Cobalt is somewhat similar to nickel and has been used for producing the blue tint in certain porcelains. It is still not known in what way Edison has employed this metal.

When the Red Man Retaliates. La Crosse Leader-Press: That the time would ever come when the descendant of any Indian buck would be in a position to sue a policeman merely because the officer of the law had punctured his legs with a few bullets probably never entered the mind of old Blackhawk, who was some pumpkins about this locality a couple of generations ago. Had he guessed it, his stout old Indian heart would have rejoiced to know that any of his race would be able to make such good use of the white man's weapons, but in his day the Indian braves were in big luck if the white men were satisfied to point the artillery only at the legs.

HONOR THE DEAD

Commander in Chief, Tanner of the Grand Army of the Republic has issued his annual address to all G. A. R. posts regarding the exercises to be conducted on May 30, Memorial day, to commemorate the memory of the federal soldier dead. In general orders No. 7 on this subject he says:

Ranks Thinning Out Rapidly
"This year, my comrades, we are crossing the river at the rate of 5,000 a month, 60,000 a year. Soon the great majority will be sleeping their last sleep and it is our privilege now, as it has been for so many years, to pay loving tributes to their memory by decorating their graves with flowers, which, starting forth from mother earth with each recurring springtime, are emblematic of a resurrection to a glorious immortality."

"I am performing my solemn duty when I ask all to assist in this loving service. Upon departure and post commanders the duty rests of attending to the fitting observance of Memorial day, which this year will fall on Wednesday, May 30."

Word to the South
"Welcome all auxiliary and allied organizations, encourage school children to attend and assist and secure speakers who in clear and eloquent language will teach the lessons of patriotism for which our comrades gave the last full measure of devotion."

"If the mothers of the south still sit like Rachel of old weeping for their children and refusing to be comforted because they are not to let the news go down to them that on our most sacred day we feel it a privilege to stand in the place of their far-distant kinsmen and lovingly mark their last resting place with God's sweetest emblem of peace, flowers."

"The old flag has been reburied since 1865 with the blood of the north and the south alike and the ship of state is securely anchored for all time."

WILL RAISE FUNDS TO AID JAPANESE

GAZETTE SUGGESTS THAT LISTS BE STARTED AT ONCE.

MAKE GOOD CONTRIBUTIONS

Two Cents a Day Will Keep One Japanese Alive—Think the Plan Over.

Fifty dollars has been left at the Gazette office to start the list of subscriptions for famine sufferers in Japan. The increasing need for aid of the suffering Japanese becomes daily more apparent and letters recently received from both Mr. and Mrs. Hibbard from Japan have urged a concerted action on the part of the citizens of Janesville to do their share of the work of raising a fund to aid in alleviating the sufferings among the poor Japanese.

Heads the List
The list is headed by one contribution of five dollars. According to the letters from Japan two cents a day is all that is necessary to support one person. This means that with the five dollars already contributed two hundred and fifty persons can be kept alive one day. One ten-cent cigar saved and the money sent to Japan means that five persons can be fed. The Gazette has made arrangements to receive all contributions of societies, churches or individuals and will forward the money to Japan where it will be used to advantage.

Mr. Hibbard's Letter
In Jean's letter you ask about our financial status. As Jean says it is a short story. As you suggest the cost of living has gone up, I should think it had gone up about thirty-five per cent. That of course necessitates economy, but we find that we can live on the salary as long as we have no special expense. That is a good deal to be thankful for when thousands of people are living on straw and rice hulls ground up and mixed into a kind of black cake.

Mrs. Hibbard's Letter
Last evening came the concert we have been working for and "stewing" about so long. It was very successful and will put 500 yen at least into the famine fund. We are trying to save a little for ourselves by personal savings, oatmeal for breakfast only, no cake or cocoa at night. We can save about fifty cents a week this way. The condition in those three provinces in the north is nothing less than awful, but every little helps. Mr. De Forest, who is a member of the famine committee and has visited and traveled all through the famine district investigating famine conditions here, Japan is giving liberally now, but the demand for help is very great and there can not be much change in conditions till after another harvest. Till papa, please, not to throw away his pennies, but to send them over here, for these poor people can live on two cents a day and thus a very small gift will save life and relieve suffering.

It is to be a "moonlight affair," but just exactly what is meant by that will not be given out until the event takes place. It has been intimated that it is something out of the ordinary. DIED ON DAY OF HIS DAUGHTER'S WEDDING

Christian Ferdinand Bauer Passed Away Last Evening at Seven O'clock.

At seven o'clock last evening, eleven hours after his daughter, Miss Ada Bauer, was united in marriage to Edwin Holden, Christian Ferdinand Bauer passed away at his home, 114 North Academy street. He had been ailing for the past two years as the result of a stroke of paralysis. The deceased was born in Heilbrunn, Wittenberg, Germany, in 1839 and came to America, settling in Schlesinger, near Milwaukee, in 1853. Returning to Hillsboro he was united in marriage with Miss Mary Elizabeth Halich on April 7, 1867. Seven children, six of whom survive, were born to them. One daughter passed away fourteen years ago and Mrs. Bauer was summoned nineteen years ago. PRESS COMMENT.

In For Another Plague.
Milwaukee Sentinel: Also Gorky is coming to this foreign propaganda-ridden country with a propaganda.

Being So Soon Done For.

Giddy Labels Take Away Curse.

A Dream of Summer.
La Crosse Chronicle: Statistics show that if the money were equally divided, each would have $31.73. If the beer were equally divided each would have 2,500 glasses coming. With a square deal the summer might be passed in comfort.

'Tis Tardy Tribute.
Oshkosh Northwestern: Mrs. Becker, wife of the mayor-elect of Milwaukee says "she knew it all the time." There's nothing like having a loyal wife to stir up the courage of a man when he gets into politics, or any other kind of a tight corner.

Only Oleo Must Be Pure.
Evening Wisconsin: The fear is unfounded that farmers will be prohibited from coloring butter if the pure food bill passes in its present form. The color can go into the butter to any desired extent, provided it is harmless. But oleomargarine will have to go into the market pure and undefiled, simply because it isn't butter.

Modern Damon And Pythias.
Chicago Journal: Senators Spooner and Knox are coming to be regarded as the Damon and Pythias of the senate. The rate question has brought them close together. One day last week Alger came suddenly out of the cloakroom and ran against Dolliver. "Where's Spooner?" asked Alger. "Do you want to find him?" said Dolliver. "Sure," replied Alger. "Well, find Knox, then, and you'll have Spooner."

SETTLED ONE CASE TO BEGIN ANOTHER

Chas. Schimeal Pays up for Assault and Begins Action for Abusive Language Against Complainant.

On the tenth of last January Charles Schimeal of the town of Turtle was tried in municipal court and found guilty of assaulting M. F. Allen, an old soldier. From the evidence it appeared that the complainant had been rather roughly used in his own yard. Attorney John Cunningham conducted the prosecution as the State will not bear the expense of bringing this sort of actions and the complainant must retain his own attorney. Pierce & Fisher represented the defendant and when the verdict of guilty was returned and a fine of $10 and costs amounting to about $40 was imposed, the case was appealed to circuit court. When an action of this kind gets into the circuit court it appears to be the duty of the district attorney to prosecute. But inasmuch as Mr. Fisher's law firm had represented the defendant in the lower court, Judge Dunwiddie appointed John Cunningham as acting district attorney. The trial was to have been commenced this morning but overtures were made for a settlement and one was finally arrived at by Mr. Schimeal agreeing to pay the $10 fine and $40 costs in the lower court; the $14 costs attending the preparation of the case for circuit court; and the sum of $100 to the complainant to have the matter dropped for good. No sooner, however, had this arrangement been completed and Mr. Allen signed the release than the former defendant, through his attorney, Charles Pierce, commenced in municipal court an action against the victim of the assault, Mr. Allen, for abusive language. Adjournment was taken in the new case until tomorrow morning.

DR. W. E. SHALLENBERGER

is thoroughly known to the people of Rock and all adjoining counties for the scientific manner in which he has cured Chronic and Private Diseases and has restored health and happiness to many that had given up all hope of getting well. He cures permanently, the cases he undertakes and sends the incurable home without taking a fee from them. If he can not cure you he will frankly tell you. If you are improving under your family physician do not give up your treatment as we prefer cases that have failed to receive the benefit from their family doctor. Rich and poor treated alike.

Dr. Shallenberger treats all curable cases of Catarrh, Throat, Lung Diseases; Stomach; Liver and Kidney; Rheumatism, Blood and Skin diseases; Nervous and Heart diseases; Epilepsy; Bright Disease; Diabetes; Bladder and Rectal complications.

EPILEPSY This disease presents itself in many different forms and degrees of violence. Come and let me talk with you. I never fail to relieve and about 50 per cent get entirely well.

CATARRH The mother of consumption should not be neglected, as many times it extends to the lungs and becomes incurable. Why fool away your time with patent medicines and unskillful treatment when you can be cured.

Symptoms of Catarrh of Head and Throat

Is your breath foul?
Is there drooping in the throat?
Does your nose discharge?
Is your voice husky?
Is your sense of smell impaired?
Do you have to clear the throat?
Do you "snore" a great deal?
Is the nose sore and tender?
Does your nose itch and burn?
Is the nose dry in the mornings?
Are you losing your sense of taste?

Catarrh of Bronchial Tube and Lungs

Have you a cough?
Are you losing flesh?
Do you cough at night?
Have you a pain in sides?
Do you take cold easily?
Is your appetite variable?
Have you stitches in your sides?
Are you low spirited at times?
Do you cough on going to bed?
Do you cough in morning?
Is your cough short and hacking?
Have you pain behind the breastbone?

Thousands of apparently health people are refused Life Insurance every year because the examiner finds evidence of Bright Disease and knows only too well the results it neglected. Nearly all cases of Bright Disease is curable if taken in time. Bladder diseases are usually a complication of some other trouble and should not be neglected. Diabetes successfully treated.

Inactivity of liver will cause constipation, which is the source of more misery than all other known ailments. Biliousness,

MOLINE WALKING PLOW

Needs no introduction, as it is the "old reliable." There is no plow on the market that has such a record for satisfactory service as the "Moline."

When you see a foot-lift Sulky Plow it's an or an attempted imitation. Modern manufacturing equipment, right design, first-class material and skillful mechanics have resulted in the building of a riding plow that today stands at the very head of practical and successful wheel plow construction—a plow that has made a record never before approached by the most successful plow builders.

EMERSON

Besides the above named plows, we also handle the

NEW TRIUMPH SULKY PLOW

A light running, easily operated plow. The New Triumph Sulky is not merely a plow with wheels and seat so that the operator can ride, but is a scientifically designed and perfectly constructed implement. Light of draft, easy to operate, does perfect work. Never disappoints in the field.
